

CONGRESS HAS QUIT
AND TRIES TO HIDEFINAL ADJOURNMENT COMES THIS AFTERNOON.

Nothing But a Loud-Smelling Memory Now Remains of a Sugar Trust's Obedient Legislative Body—The Hybrid Bill Became a Law at Midnight—Cleveland's Letter.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—All that is left of the Fifty-Third congress is an odoriferous record. The full history of its shameful sale to the sugar trust is still to be written, but the congress itself is ended. The adjournment was reached this afternoon, and everybody is willing to rest. It is even announced that the senate committee on rules will not sit during the recess. The tariff went into effect at midnight last night. President Cleveland did not sign the act. It becomes a law according to statute and without his approval. He did not even send a letter to congress explaining the reasons for allowing the bill to become a law without his direct sanction. What he did do was to write a private letter to Hon. T. C. Catchings, from which the following extracts are taken. After declaring that there are provisions in the bill which it is impossible for him to approve the President goes on:

"And yet, notwithstanding all its vicissitudes and all the bad treatment it received at the hands of pretended friends, it presents a vast improvement to existing conditions. It will certainly lighten many tariff burdens that now rest heavily upon the people. It is not only a barrier against the return of mad protection, but it furnishes a vantage ground from which must be waged further aggressive operations against protected monopoly and governmental favoritism.

"I do not despair of the efforts made by the house of representatives to supplement the bill already passed by further legislation and to have engrafted upon it such modifications as will more nearly meet democratic hopes and aspirations.

"I can't be mistaken as to the necessity of free raw materials as the foundation of logical and sensible tariff reform. The extent to which this is recognized in the legislation already secured is one of its encouraging and redeeming features, but it is vexatious to recall that while free coal and iron ore have been denied, a letter of the secretary of the treasury discloses the fact that both might have been made free by the annual surrender of only $700,000 of unnecessary revenue.

"I am sure that there is a common habit of underestimating the importance of free raw materials in tariff legislation and of regarding them as only related to concessions to be made to our manufacturers. The truth is, their influence is so far reaching that if disregarded a complete and beneficial scheme of tariff reform can not be successfully inaugurated.

"When we give our manufacturers free raw materials we unshackle American enterprise and ingenuity, and these will open the doors of foreign markets to the reception of our wares and give opportunity for the continuous and remunerative employment of American labor.

"With materials cheapened by their freedom from tariff charges, the cost of their product must be correspondingly cheapened. Thereupon justice and fairness to the consumer would demand that the manufacturers be obliged to submit to such a readjustment and modification of the tariff upon their finished goods as would secure to the people the benefit of the reduced cost of their manufactures and shield the consumer against the exactions of inordinate profits. It will thus be seen that free raw materials and a just and fearless regulation and reduction of the tariff to meet the changed conditions would carry to every humble home in the land the blessings of increased comfort and cheaper living.

"The millions of our countrymen who have fought bravely and well for tariff reform should be exhorted to continue the struggle, boldly challenging to open warfare and constantly guarding against treachery and half-heartedness in their camp.

"Tariff reform will not be settled until it is honestly and fairly settled in the interest and to the benefit of a patient and long-suffering people."

Only Seventeen Senators Present, WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—There were not more than a dozen senators present yesterday when the chaplain offered prayer and this number did not increase beyond seventeen during the day's proceedings. The senate went into executive session and the galleries were cleared of the expectant but disappointed throng. The executive session lasted one hour, but nothing important was done. At 1:10 p. m. the doors were reopened and the senate adjourned until to-day.

WILSON HITS AT GORMAN BILL. Says It Increases Basis of Taxation Over the McKinley Law $63,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—The galleries were crowded with visiting Knights of Pythias and their families when the house met yesterday, but the floor was a waste of empty chairs, less than fifty members being present. Mr. Richardson (dem. Tenn.) offered a resolution to print the tariff bill, with comparisons of the rates between the bill as it becomes a law, the bill as it passed the house and the present McKinley law.

Mr. Wilson pointed out the difficulty of resolving specific into ad valorem duties, and said the comparison would be misleading. Mr. Wilson thought the comparison should not be simply a comparison of the rates of taxation, but of the basis of taxation. Under the McKinley law, he said, taking reports for 1893, duties averaging 43 per cent were levied on $400,000,000 of dutiable imports; under the house bill the duties would have been 55 per cent on $310,000,000 of dutiable imports (the rest being free), under the senate bill the rate would be 38 per cent on $463,000,000 of imported goods. He said the senate bill would increase the basis of taxation $63,000,000 over the McKinley law and he wanted this to appear in the comparison.

Mr. McMillin (dem. Tenn.) called attention to the fact that $50,000,000 of this increase would be due to the tax on sugar. The point of no quorum was raised. The death of Congressman Shaw was announced, a committee was appointed to attend the funeral, and the house adjourned.

FOUND NO DISTRESS IN PULLMAN

Rev. Dr. Eaton Admonishes Labor Commissioners—Opposes Forced Arbitration.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—One of the surprises of the labor investigation was sprung on the labor commission and fairly took away the breath of the members thereof, to say nothing of the crowd in the court room. It came in the person of Rev. Dr. Charles H. Eaton, pastor of the Church of Paternity, in New York.

Dr. Eaton was the last witness examined in the morning session. He had been sitting on a table in the middle of the room all morning, listening to the proceedings and evidently waiting to be called. At last his time came and he took the stand with evident satisfaction. People turned to one another and said: "Now the company is going to catch it."

"Dr. Eaton," said Chairman Wright, "we understand you know something of the Pullman strike. What can you tell the commission about it?"

The doctor said that he had always been interested in the labor movement and had made a special study of it. He came to Pullman for the purpose of investigating the strike and the conditions of the people in the town.

"I went into forty houses, said the reverend gentleman, "and I found no distress in the town to speak of. The workmen told me they had no grievances at all when they struck."

"Wait a minute," interrupted Commissioner Worthington. "I don't think that is exactly germane to our inquiry. We want what you know, not what was told you."

The doctor said that he didn't believe in compulsory arbitration, because one of the parties to the contract (the laboring men), having no property, could not be responsible.

"That is your reason for not believing in it?" asked Mr. Worthington.

"Yes."

The commissioners listened first to a statement from Edward F. Bryant, manager of the bank at Pullman. Mr. Bryant has been manager of that famous financial institution for nine years, and came to the commission prepared to fill its members full of statistics. He held in his hand a roll of paper covered with typewritten figures showing how much money has been on deposit in Mr. Pullman's bank for a long time past. He said that the capital stock of the bank is $100,000. Of this amount 300 shares are owned by officials of the Pullman company, and the remaining shares are the property of the Pullman Southern Car company.

Mr. Bryant submitted a statement showing the condition of deposits at various times during the years 1893 and 1894. On July 1, 1893, there was in the savings department of the bank $537,347.64. There were 2,600 separate accounts represented in this sum. Of that number of accounts 2,425 belonged to Pullman employees, the average deposit for each employee being $340.18.

On June 1, 1893, the savings deposits were $374,412.97. There were 2,690 accounts, 2,477 being Pullman employees, and the average deposit of each being $274.90. This shows that 86 per cent of the total deposits were those of Pullman employees. On July 1, 1894, the savings amounted to $453,520.49 or 1,630 accounts, 1,414 being employees of the company. The average deposit was $270.75.

Then the judge explained to Mr. Bryant about the case of Jennie Curtis, who had paid back rent out of her wages for the house which her father had rented under lease. This back rent was paid after the death of the father on Sept. 9.

At the afternoon session George M. Pullman was first called and was interrogated by Mr. Wright. After explaining the reasons for building the town of Pullman as it was constructed he said the company paid dividends on a whole capital of $35,000,000.

"What are your dividends?" Mr. Wright asked. "Our dividends are 2 per cent quarterly. The stock has never been watered and it has been actually paid in and we have continued for many years on the basis of 8 per cent per annum."

He said the undivided profits of the company at the present time amounted to $25,000,000, but that the company for some time before the strike had accepted contracts at a loss in order to keep their men employed.

The Ambassador Is In Very Poor Health—Japan Recognized As a Civilized Nation—Treaty Negotiated With England—Russian Peasants Attack a Count's Residence.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 28.—The Korean minister who is going home is dangerously ill. The reason for his recall is not known, but it is not believed that any complications between the United States and Korea have arisen, as this country has done all in its power to aid Korea's cause.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—A new treaty has been negotiated between Japan and Great Britain by which the claim of extra territorial jurisdiction by the latter is abandoned. Negotiations looking to the ratification of similar treaties are going on between Japan and the United States and other European nations than Great Britain, and it is assumed they will now speedily follow the example set by the latter and fully recognize the right of Japan to administer justice in its own territory. The importance of Great Britain's action which, by the way, tends to discredit the stories that it is hostile to Japan in its present war, lies in the fact that it is the recognition of Japan as a fully civilized power.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 28.—Li Bule, the military governor of the province of Shing King, has been vested with supreme military command of the Chinese forces in Corea. The Chinese northern fleet has arrived at Wei Hai Wei from Port Arthur. Capt. von Henneken has been appointed to assist Admiral Ting in the command of the Pei Yang fleet.

PEASANTS MARCH ON A CHATEAU.

Count Tyszkiewicz's Servants Repulse Them After a Hot Battle.

MEMEL, Prussia, Aug. 28.—A serious riot has taken place near the Russian village of Crotnign. Count Tyszkiewicz, the largest land owner of the district, whose chateau adjoined the village, distrained some of the peasant tenants of their cattle. This so enraged the peasantry of Crotnign that a band of 100 men with shot guns, rifles and scythes blades attached to long poles, marched upon the count's residence and made a fierce attack upon it. The count's servants, after a sharp fight, repulsed the peasants, wounding several of them. Only one of the count's servants was hurt. No lives were lost on either side, although the firing was quite brisk for a short time.

Labor Troubles in Australia.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Aug. 28.—A strike which has broken out among the sheep shearers has been the cause of a number of outrages at Netellie. THE IMPORTS TODAY
DWARF LAST YEAR'S.MORE IN ONE DAY THAN IN ALL 1893.

That Is the Way Home Manufacturers Are to Be Encouraged Under the Rule of Grover—Foreign Goods Flood the Markets of the United States.

WASHINGTON, August 28.—The volume of business transacted by the custom houses in New York and other sea ports today has been greater than the volume the past year. Secretary Carlisle's instructions to collectors of customs are of great importance to importers of wool, especially, as they have been much exercised and have been in Washington for several days to secure an official decision as to whether wool, which yesterday was dutiable, would be free to-day if actually imported and only held in bond. The secretary's decision is to the effect that the free list, as well as the other provisions of the act, goes into effect at once unless otherwise provided and that goods in bond are subject to the new law.

Although, as stated, it is Secretary Carlisle's purpose that the intent of congress shall be followed, it is learned that as to all questions of error in punctuation Secretary Carlisle will make no decisions or give any instructions to collectors until after actual cases have come before him on appeal from the decisions of the board of general appraisers as to whether diamonds, seeds and certain other articles are by the terms of the bill on the dutiable or the free list. Collectors will, of course, without any instructions, hold them to be dutiable in order to protect themselves, and importers must go to law if they contest these rulings.

SMALLPOX RIOTS.

They Again Break Out in the Southern Section of Milwaukee.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 28.—The smallpox disturbances in the infected district on the south side have broken out again. Authorities succeeded in keeping all knowledge of the disturbances from the public until yesterday. The trouble began at 515 Fifteenth avenue Saturday night, where an attempt was made to remove a child to the isolation hospital. Alderman Rudolph interfered and asked the health authorities to allow the child to remain at home. This request was refused. The crowd stoned the officers, and although the health officers were reinforced by a squad of police they could not do anything against the crowd and the attempt to remove the patient had to be abandoned. It is said that severe measures will be taken at once against the rioters.

McAuliffe Beats Griffo

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Jack McAuliffe got the decision at the end of the ten-round fight with "Young Griffo," the Australian, before the Seaside Athletic club last night, but the verdict of the referee was received with jeers by the crowd. Griffo had pressed the fighting, and during the first half, at least, showed the better advantage. While McAuliffe improved somewhat toward the close, three persons out of every four in the crowd believed that the Australian had made at least an equal showing with him, and the decision of the referee was received with surprise.

It is likely the strike will be declared off.

The start, although a flying one, was not of the best, as Tyler had not acquired full speed when he crossed the tape. The time to the first quarter was 0:28 3-5, the half in 0:59 3-5, the three-quarters in 1:32 2-5 and the mile in 2:07 2-5.

SAY GORMAN IS VERY ILL.

Senator's Condition Makes a Trip to Europe Necessary.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—A special from Baltimore to a morning paper says:

"Senator Gorman's physicians advise him to leave for Europe at the earliest possible day, not only for the benefit of the sea voyage but for the purpose of taking treatment at one of the German springs. His health is declared to be in a very precarious state. An intimate friend of the German family to-day said:

"It is true that Senator Gorman's family and friends have for several months been greatly alarmed about his health and his physicians have frequently advised him that he must devote a long period to absolute rest and abstain from work or else he would break down. Mrs. Gorman has often begged him to give up all work and go away to Europe or some other place where he could be out of reach of the politicians, who always follow him about from place to place wherever he may go as long as he remains in this country. The senator left Washington for Saratoga yesterday for a rest. If he does not improve the whole family will probably go to Europe. It is their intention at all events to go to Europe in the spring after the short session of congress is over and remain there all next summer."

"He thought his position would screen him from arrest, but Nicaragua had never recognized him officially nor granted him an exchequer. His appointment is therefore void, so far as Nicaragua is concerned, and with his accomplices in sedition he will be punished to the full extent of the law."

Proceedings to Annul the Franchise Ordered—Six More Electric Lights to be Scattered Around Town—Damage Suit—More Time For Paving.

A Gatling gun was set going in the common council last night by Alderman Child when he presented the report of the committee on fire and water in relation to the purchase of the water works plant. Alderman Child read the report, simply remarking that it was signed by all the members of the committee. He then moved the adoption of the report and resolution, which was voted on by calling the roll, all the aldermen voting aye. The report is as follows:

The fire and water committee to whom was referred the matters pertaining to the Janesville Water Company, respectfully report: That the Janesville Water Company having filed a statement of the alleged cost of the water works in the city of Janesville as provided in the franchise granted to Turner, Clark & Rawson, and such statement being, as we are informed and believe, false, unjust and fraudulent (the statement showing the cost of the works to be about $400,000, whereas the actual cost we believe to be about $140,000) and the said company having violated its franchise in various particulars and having conducted its business in utter disregard of the rights of the water consumers in the city of Janesville, and it being desirable that the city of Janesville should at this time enforce its rights and protect its people against the extortion and unfair dealing of the water company, we, therefore, recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That the city attorney be and he hereby is instructed to bring an action to vacate and set aside and annul the franchise under which the Janesville Water Company is operating, and the city attorney, with the fire and water committee of the said city, be empowered to employ counsel to aid in the prosecution of such an action; and that said fire and water committee be instructed to take steps to protect the rights of the city of Janesville and its citizens in reference to the consumption of water.

Alderman McLean presented an order for a fire hydrant at the corner of High and Wall streets, which was referred to the fire and water committee with instructions to report at the next meeting. Orders for street work were adopted as follows:

EDGERTON LOST THE GAME.

Cal Broughton Led the Evansvilles Against Them and Won.

The Evansville base ball team which has laid dormant all season, played a game with the crack team of Edgerton Saturday. The Edgerton sports offered all kinds of money at all odds of odds that their team would win, with no takers, the universal opinion being that they would win hands down. But the veteran Cal Broughton, who is captain of the Evansville team, showed them that there was a thing or two to be learned about base ball yet. He coached the team in a manner equal to "Old Anse" himself and when the smoke of battle cleared away Edgerton was beaten by the following score:

Edgerton..... 0 0 0 0 0 7 2 0-21

MILTON'S GRAIN NOW ON THE MOVE

LIVELY DEALS DURING THE LAST WEEK.

Farmers Feeding Corn Stalks Near Shopiere and Very Few Fields Will Be Left Standing—Campers Back From the Lakes—District Schools Are Opening.

MILTON, Aug. 29.—The grain trade was lively last week, and prices closed firm at the following figures. Wheat, fifty cents; rye, forty-six; barley, forty-seven and oats thirty cents. The total shipments were twenty-two carloads, of which G. R. Fetherston shipped twenty, and Osborn two. Soverhill & Porter shipped out three cars of tobacco and received three. Saunders also received four cars of lumber and coal. G. R. Fetherston began work on his new boiler house Monday. It will be 21x24, and built of brick and steel, the power being a forty-horse boiler. The building is located away from the mill some distance, and steam will be piped to the engine, thus reducing the danger from fire. William Jones, of Clinton, was here Thursday. He would not object to having the support of the Milton delegation in the assembly convention. Mrs. Charles Lowery, of Evansville, visited her sisters, the Misses Mary and Lucy Vincent, last week. Miss Gertrude Davidson, who has been sick for two weeks, is again able to be out. E. C. Burdick, of Janesville, who is a candidate for clerk of the court, was in the village last Friday. S. H. Miss Lura Dow of Palmyra, was the guest of Miss Birdie Smith, Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Mayhew of the Stover-Abbott Buggy Co., of Chicago, was here with his wife Saturday and Sunday. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clem W. Crumb. Miss Mable Curtis has gone to Rolling Prairie to visit her sister. Superintendent Thorne held a teachers' examination here Thursday and Friday and there were forty in attendance, a number of them writing for first grade certificates. The "Blue Diamonds" drove down to Sharon last Thursday and the ball club at that place sent them back in a bruised and dazed condition. To say that they were badly beaten is putting it very mildly. L. G. Baldwin died Sunday night. Deceased was 89 years of age, and had resided for more than half a century in this village. He leaves an aged widow. He was the father of the late A. W. Baldwin, who was for so many years clerk of the circuit court. The funeral services took place here. Rev. E. M. Dunn officiated and the remains were buried in the village cemetery. President W. C. Whitford occupied the pulpit at the M. E. church Sunday morning, Rev. Summers being out of town. Mrs. Alice S. Bailey, of the Hahnemann Medical college faculty, spent Monday in town. He rode his wheel from Milwaukee and returned to Chicago by rail. His many friends here were glad to see him once again. R. Richardson left for Chicago Tuesday to resume his position in Gage Bros. & Co's establishment.

SHOPIERE CORN CUT FOR FODDER

Very Little Will Be Left In the Fields When Frost Comes.

SHOPIERE, August 28.—Farmers are beginning to cut up their corn. There will not be much corn left standing this year if the frost holds off as the stalks will be needed before spring, the dry weather having taken so much feed this fall. The apple crop is good this year but not very large, still apples are more plenty than potatoes. George Radley boy that has been sick so long during the hot weather is not improving very fast. The doctor's horse that has traveled so many miles in the past was taken sick on Friday night and died before morning. Mr. Enling is making some repairs on his mill. D. D. VanValen from Janesville visited this place for a day or two. Ed. Fonda is making cider for all that come. He has a good mill, in good repair. E. P. Bostwick is building an addition to his house. Get your coal of C. H. Weirick. He can fill all orders that come. School will commence the first Monday of September, with Miss Blazes as teacher for the upper room; Miss Smith the lower. William Hopkins, of St. Louis, is visiting with his family in this place for a few days. A. D. Parker and wife are visiting their daughter at Fort Atkinson. A sister of Mrs. A. A. Chicken With a Wooden.

This snake story comes from Floyd Springs. A large chicken snake captured a small chicken there a month ago and had swallowed its right foot and leg when discovered by the chicken's owner. The snake was killed but not before it had bitten off the chicken's leg. The owner, believing it to be an unusually fine chicken, made a small wooden leg and fastened it on with a strap. The chicken walked off very proudly and puffed up the earth recklessly with its hickory limb.

Might Never Have Met Again.

Colonel Ingersoll once called upon the Rev. Phillips Brooks, and the great preacher received him at once, although he had declined to see many distinguished preachers. "Why have you shown me this marked distinction?" inquired the colonel. "The reason is simple," replied Dr. Brooks; "if those preachers die, I'll be sure to meet them again in heaven; whereas, had you gone away and died, I should never have met you again. I thought I had better take no chances."

REV. WELCH AND DEVILRY OWE FOR RENT OF LAND.

Weeks Following—Removal of a
Very Small Imp Would Square
Everything, So Who Has One
Worth $6.66?

WANTED—A small dumb devil worth about $7, that an honest debt may be paid by the removal of the same. Apply to Revs. Welch and Devilry.

The Gazette has been expecting to be asked to print something like the foregoing in return for having that very expensive devil (guaranteed value $7,000), removed from its midst with olive oil and a shout.

But nothing has come to pass. The fact is, Revs. Welch and Devilry seem to have finished their labors in Janesville without paying rent. When the lung-testers came here they had a third party rent the scene of their warfare and pay three weeks rent. They stayed not three weeks but seven. Devils were plenty and owing to the predicted tariff change and democratic times they sold freely. Several thirty-five dollar ones were extracted by the committee on removal and smaller ones were too thick to count. Despite all this the preachers still owe for four weeks' rent at $1.66 per week or $6.66 in all and there seems to be no way to get it. Who is possessed of a small, dumb devil worth about that much that Rev. Welch may remove and thus secure enough to pay his rent?

Don't all speak at once.

SOME WELL KNOWN FACES

The New Minister to Russia.

Clifton R. Breckinridge, who has been appointed minister to Russia by President Cleveland, was about to retire from congress at the close of his present term, as his constituents disapproved of his course in sustaining the administration on the silver question. Mr. Breckinridge has been in congress 11 years. He is a son of John C. Breckinridge, who was vice president under Buchanan, a candidate for president against Lincoln and a general and secretary of war of the Confederacy. The present Mr. Breckinridge was born at Lexington, Ky., Nov. 22, 1846. He served in the Confederate army and was educated at Washington college, Virginia.

Fatal Electric Railway Collision.

WHITING, Ind., Aug. 28.—A fatal collision occurred here in the dense fog at 6:10 o'clock yesterday morning on the Hammond, Whiting & East Chicago railway. Car No. 3, west-bound, and car No. 2, east-bound, collided at One Hundred and Twenty-first street and Schrage avenue. One man was killed and eight injured. Who the blame will rest upon is not definitely known, but it seems the conductor of No. 3 was in fault. The heavy fog that enveloped this region made it impossible to see over twenty feet distant. The cars came together with such force that No. 3 was driven nearly half way through No. 2.

Settlement Wiped Out.

ISHPEMING, Mich., Aug. 28.—Forest fires invaded the settlement known as Finland, on the South Shore railroad, to-day and completely wiped it out of existence. Many of the residents lost everything. Thousands of cords of poles, ties and wood, as well as standing timber, have been destroyed. Trout Creek and other settlements are threatened. Several hundred million feet of standing pine are badly damaged.

CURES OTHERS

BAD COUGH, SPIT UP BLOOD.—CONSUMPTION.

K. C. McLEN, Esq., of Kempsville, Princess Anne Co., Va., writes:

"When I commenced taking your 'Discovery' I was very low with a cough, and at times spit up much blood. I was not able to do the least work, but most of the time was in bed. I was all run-down, very weak, my head was dizzy, and I was extremely despondent. The first bottle I took did not seem to do me much good, but I had faith in it and continued using it until I had taken fifteen bottles, and now I do not look nor feel like the same man I was one year ago. People are astonished, and say, 'well, last year this time I would not have thought that you would be living now.' I can thankfully say I am entirely cured of a disease which, but for your wonderful 'Discovery,' would have resulted in my death."

WHY NOT YOU?

Mr. K. C. McLEN.

POUNDS ON A WHEEL.

Janesville Boy Comes Up From Chicago and Finds that He Is Losing Weight At the Rate of Three Tons a Year—Couldn't Stand It Long.

Charles Carlson of the state university, left Chicago yesterday riding a bicycle to Beloit which place he reached last evening. After a night's rest he remounted his wheel and came to Janesville his home, making the twelve miles in one hour and fifteen minutes. "It is hard wheeling from Chicago to Beloit," he said. "I lost seventeen pounds yesterday from Chicago to Beloit, and my ride from Beloit to Janesville cost me three and a half pounds more. I weighed myself in Chicago as I was about to start. I was weighed again last evening in Beloit. I weighed again this morning before I started for Janesville, and again when I arrived here. At this rate it wouldn't require much time to reduce a man down to almost nothing." Mr. Carlson was formerly employed in the Janesville Machine Company's plant, but is now taking a course in the mechanical department of the state university.

SEE THE JUMPING BEANS.

Something About the Queer Mexican Production.

On exhibition in the show windows of Smith's Pharmacy are a number of seeds. Botanists call them carpeocapsa saltians, but most people not being particularly adapted to pronouncing difficult names, call them simply the jumping bean. The bean seed is the product of a peculiar tree found in one state in Mexico. It is triangular in shape, having two flat and one convex surfaces. Each bean contains a small worm, eleven millimeters in length, and two in width. The most surprising thing in connection with this bean is that there is no hole or other indication of the way the worm entered the shell. The diminutive worm seems content with being enclosed in the shell and never cares to escape. If a hole is made in the bean it immediately sets about to repair. This life of the worm is said to be about ten months. It is a very amusing spectacle to watch these seeds as they jump about with apparently no motive power whatever. No theory has ever been advanced which satisfactorily explains the mystery of the little bean, and one could not be more astonished at seeing the seeds of an apple jumping about than to observe the movements of the little carpeocapsa saltians. In the Smith window they have proven a great attraction.

Rev. Thomas Lawson Objects to Criticisms on Bishop Fowler.

EDITOR GAZETTE: An item in The Gazette of last evening under heading of "Local Methodist's Talk About Conference" is incorrect and may lead to misapprehension and cause prejudice in the minds of many in reference to the presiding bishop of the coming Wisconsin conference. The statement made is, that "Bishop Fowler was the cause of the Milwaukee quarrel several years ago, and that the trouble grew out of his refusal to take advice from those most interested in the appointments." The bishop presiding at that conference was Bishop J. T. Newman, and not Bishop Fowler, so the blame, if any, rests with the former and not with the latter. In regard to other items contained in the article, I have no comment, only to express my surprise that the appointments of the conference should appear so long previous to the meeting of the conference. Yours respectfully, THOMAS LAWSON, Superannuate of West Wis. Conference.

[It was under Bishop Newman's administration that the trouble mentioned came to a head, but Bishop Fowler is held responsible by many for the original misunderstanding.—Editor Gazette.]

NEW HIGH SCHOOL
MAY COST LITTLEBIDS LIKELY TO DROP BELOW
THE ESTIMATE.

Contractors From Chicago are Here And Hint that People are Scratching Pretty Hard For Jobs this Year and Will Cut Prices Without Mercy.

Contractors are busy figuring on the plans for the building of the new high school. The plans are in the city clerk's office, and contractors are obliged to take their turns with the plans and specifications. This morning a man from Chicago was figuring on the work.

"I think the people will be somewhat surprised when the bids are opened," said he. "Instead of the cost being greater than the architect's estimate, I think it will be much lower. Contractors are hungry for work, and go anywhere to get such a job. A school building nearly the size of this was built in Illinois this season for $20,000 and one in St. Louis estimated by the architect to cost $75,000 was let for $58,000. This is a handsome building, but it looks more like a hospital than a school building."

A Queer Coincidence.

Yesterday a lady came into our store to see some bed room suites. She was told the price, but said she would not purchase until she looked around. In a short time she returned with her sister and ordered us to send it up. She also said it was at least twenty-five per cent cheaper than any other set of similar quality in the city.

Dr. H. A. McCosney, Janesville, Wisconsin.

Dear Sir—As you know I began treatment two weeks ago for a deafness of ten years' standing caused by a catarrhal stoppage around the ear, creating a continuous ringing noise that made it impossible to hear or catch a sound at any considerable distance. In that brief space (14 days) I find myself so greatly relieved that in going to church yesterday and occupying a pew in the rear, I was surprised that I could hear distinctly every word from the pulpit, a blessing that I have not enjoyed for years. I join most heartily in recommending your Catarrh Cure to everybody afflicted with catarrh in any form, and particularly of the head and throat, and advise them to try your medicines, as they will certainly find immediate and sure relief, and I firmly believe a permanent cure.

Your friend and well wisher,

CATCHING A TARTAR.

A sunny morning in June. The platform crowded—cheap trippers for South-sea, heavy swells and swelles for the links at Hayling island, with bags of golf sticks. The yachting man, strongly in evidence, sunburnt and puffing a cigarette vigorously. If he is a new hand—a Dickey Sam—he wears a cloth peaked cap with the club burgee, a well cut coat of serge or pilot cloth bristling with bronze buttons, loose flannel continuations and white shoes. No man was ever so much a seadog as the yachting tyro looks.

The older sailing men, those to the manner born—"swagger squadrons," who can fly the white ensign, are dressed in long, lean, frock coats, loose trousers turned up, pointed boots, immaculate collars and glossy hats—the aim of the man who has lived to look as much like a stockbroker as possible. Of course, down at the Castle or on Rydypier they will blossom into a seasonable crop of buttons and burgees and display remarkable activity in dodging that tyrant of the deep—the sailing master—if the water looks a bit choppy.

Two people attracted a lot of attention by their palpable efforts at concealment. He, although the day was so hot, was enveloped in a long cloak, with a collar reaching past his ears, and his cotton white hair and mustache showed up occasionally in strong contrast to the deep brown of his face as he turned to watch the porters attacking a huge mound of his belongings.

Each box and bag was blazoned with an imperial coronet over a monogram, and then told one another guardedly and under promises of profound secrecy "that was Prince Paul Demtoff, the owner of the new 100 rater now lying off Southampton."

She, the lady, was tall and gracefully girlish. A neat, natty blue serge Redfern frock; a sunburnt straw hat, with a dark blue ribbon; tiny tanned boots; a white shirt, with a turndown collar, and flowing tie completed her costume, saving a thick gossamer veil that completely hid her face, and but for the whiteness and purity of her neck it would have seemed she suffered from some facial disfigurement. It was evidently a desire not to be recognized that led to the adoption of the yashmak.

She was evidently expecting or avoiding some friends. Her head moved with a birdlike quickness as she scanned each new arrival on the platform, and her slender hand, white and jewelled, twitched nervously round the handle of the morocco monogrammed case she carried. Catching her eye from a distance, he walked toward her with the easy, firm self assurance that women like. She saw he was coming to her and waited calmly—perhaps she breathed more quickly.

He raised his soft hat, and with a courtly bow said in perfect English, with the merest accent of an accent: "Pardon me, you are distressed. Have you missed your maid? Can I be of any service to you?"

Now his hat was off he appeared a prematurely white haired man of 45 or 50, with a firm face and voice—a man evidently used to command.

"Thank you very much," came in a soft sibilant voice from beneath the thick gossamer. "I have not only lost my maid, but my portmanteau. I am afraid it is under that pile of luggage, and—" with a little shrug—"I am afraid that pile of luggage is yours."

"That is mine, madame. I will get your bag at once. May I ask where you are going? To Southampton, and it is of the highest importance you should not miss this train? Pardon, do not trouble. I will see that all is arranged."

A few words to the guard, a rapid passage of backsheesh, and the missing bag with a dainty monogram and small crest was placed carefully on the rack of the first class carriage by which the veiled lady was standing. With the coolness that seemed part of his nature, the Russian indicated to a porter a small hamper and had it placed in the same compartment. There must have been some collusion and a lavish tip, for, though the train was crowded, the guard, after the imperceptible manner of his kind, kept that carriage empty until the train started, and they found themselves alone, securely locked in.

A sudden start ran through her slender frame. She paused and asked quickly, "Do you know when the next train leaves Waterloo for Southampton?"

He was desolated. Of course she missed her maid, but he was afraid not for some hours.

"Madame is glad? Madame is afraid of being followed?"

"Yes, madame is glad. She does not wish to be taken back and forced into a hateful marriage," blushing prettily.

The old, old story—stern father, elderly lover, titled, rich, but horrid. No mother, no sister, no brother. She was flying from bondage to her aunt, Lady Aznregore, in Guernsey.

Yes, she was Lady Constance Aznregore. Had he really met her at the Duchess of Arlington's dance? She thought she knew his face. That was why she trusted him so implicitly on the platform, of course. But if she was veiled, why was he so shrouded in a big cloak? "Come, now," anxiously, "a lady? An elopement?"

No, no, and again no! Nothing so joyous. He was Prince Paul Demtoff and had fallen between two stools—had incurred the enmity of the imperial court through coquetting with the nihilists. That meant the Alexieffs Ravelin or the fortress of Peter and Paul in St. Petersburg, and, on the other hand, finding the "party of progress" going too far, he was threatened with death for deserting the red flag.

"You must pardon me, prince, but we seem in trouble together," and she laughed merrily. "Do you know I half thought you were a detective?"

By this time he had returned to his hamper and produced deftly a table cloth, plates, knives, forks and serviettes, a small bottle of Chateau Mouton Rothschild and a dainty cold chicken. Their mutual confessions had lessened embarrassment, and the lady, after making a little moue, said that she was so hungry and so glad to eat, etc.

They chatted and laughed as the train sped through the beautiful country, and by the time Southampton was thought of she had smoked half a mild cigarette and he had kissed her hand.

She readjusted her veil, and he assumed his big cloak with a sigh as the whistle of the train signaled the station. "The Guernsey boat does not leave till midnight. What are you going to do? Where will you put up?"

"I don't know. I will never be taken back alive. And you, you are hunted. What will you do?"

"Go on board my yacht. She is lying off here, and the gig waits for this train at the landing steps. I must hail them, as none of them know me. My agent has engaged an entirely new crew, skipper included, all English. I want no nihilists on board." And he looked moodily out of the window.

She made a sudden movement, as if about to speak, but drew back. Again she leaned forward, and the repetition roused him from his thoughts. He looked up and saw her eyes glistening even through the thick veil. She was crying!

"What is the matter? You are frightened. Can I help you?"

"I hardly dare ask you. You may think badly of me, but I will not be forced into this detestable marriage. Can you—may I?"

He divined her thoughts. "Stay on board my yacht and board the boat at midnight? Yes, your ladyship, yes—in all honor, yes." And he held out both his hands, and with a sob almost hysterical she placed her tiny gloves in them as the train stopped.

They left the station by a side door unnoted, and walking down the broad gravelled road with the soft sward and the old time cannon passed the crumbling walls and found the boat manned by six bronzed typical yachtsmen, the skipper, a fine looking old man, sitting motionless in the stern sheets holding the yoke lines.

"Do you know a respectable woman who can look after this lady until the mail boat starts?" asked the prince as he handed her carefully on board and passed her portmanteau. She carried the morocco case herself.

"Well, surr, I've took the libberty of invitin my old woman on board today. She's been a stewardess, surr."

"Capital, captain. Now, lads, give way!"

The boat soon shot alongside a beautiful schooner yacht. The crew manned the gangway as the prince and Lady Constance came on board, and a motherly, sunburned woman courtesied her through an exquisitely furnished saloon cabin into a bijou boudoir with a lace curtained bunk and a host of feminine fripperies.

"I may sail tonight. Is all ready? Right. Take the boat and go ashore, bring off my luggage and anything we may want from the ship's stores. And, Johnson, keep the men aloft, but you just find out if there is any hue and cry about a lady eloping."

Captain Johnson, an old merchant captain, slowly winked and looked very knowing. "H'm!" he said to himself. "I half s'pected as much. That's the sort of owner I likes to sail with. Lots o' yellow boys kickin about this voyage, I lay."

In about an hour he returned, and doffing his peaked cap said mysteriously, "I spoke to my cousin, the plecter-man, and he says there's a lot o' cockney detectives down a-watchin the station an' the Guernsey packet for some young 'ooman."

Her ladyship had washed all travel stains away and changed her frock. She looked like a fresh rosebud, but her face grew deathly pale, her eyes dilated, and the nerve lines deepened into marks of agony when he told her the captain's story. He thought she was going to faint and made as though to catch her. With a supreme effort she regained her self possession and said in a hoarse whisper:

"Oh, save me! Take me to Guernsey in your yacht, or I will jump over board!"

He turned on his heel without reply and went up the companionway on deck.

"Johnson, your wife doesn't mind a trip to sea?"

"Lor bless yer royal highness, she's dying for a sniff of the ocean!"

"Get down weigh at once."

"Ay, ay, sir! All hands on deck! Tumble up, my hearties!"

Her face flushed deeply when she heard the clank of the chain pump and the flapping of the foresail, and she thanked him with both hands and a sweet smile.

Under a good southwesterly breeze the yacht spun along merrily, throwing the foam in long, beautiful, featherlike curves from her clipper stern.

The lady stood leaning dreamily against the side ropes, and the prince, an experienced sailor evidently, took the tiller and threaded the way carefully through the crowd of craft. For a time neither spoke; then, abruptly giving the management to the appreciative critical skipper, he beckoned her into the cabin.

"I will land you at Guernsey tomorrow morning," he said, "but I have been deceiving you. I am not Prince Paul Demtoff. I am his valet. I have robbed him of 1,000,000 rubles and am now going to the Argentine in his yacht," and he stood up rigidly and faced her.

She smiled and said calmly: "Very good! Take me with you. I am not Lady Constance Aznregore. I am her maid, but I've got her jewel case."—Million.

A NARROW ESCAPE!

How it Happened.

The following remarkable event in a lady's life will interest the reader: "For a long time I had a terrible pain at my heart, which flattered almost incessantly. I had no appetite and could not sleep. I would be compelled to sit up in bed and belch gas from my stomach until I thought every minute would be my last. There was a feeling of oppression about my heart, and I was afraid to draw a full breath. I couldn't sleep a room without sitting down and resting; but, thank God, by the help of New Heart Cure all that is past and I feel like another woman. Before using the New Heart Cure I had taken different so-called remedies and been treated by doctors without any benefit until I was both discouraged and disgusted. My husband bought me a bottle of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and am happy to say I never regretted it, as I now have a splendid appetite and sleep well. I weighed 125 pounds when I began taking the remedy, and now I weigh 115. Its effect in my case has been truly marvelous. It far surpasses any other medicine I have ever taken, or any I could ever receive from physicians."—Mrs. Harry Starr, Potomac, Pa., October 12, 1894.

OVERCOATS.

Here is where we have our own way in the Clothing business in Janesville. We probably have more overcoats, this year's styles, all the latest, than all the clothing houses in the city together. While it is not the time to wear an overcoat, yet it will not be long. It would be advisable for you to look at what we have.

THE above is a correct representation of the celebrated "Poole" overcoat. They come in Meltons and Kerseys in blue and black. A long cut sack coat, a very nobby cut.

THIS represents the "PADDOCK" a coat made in Kersey or Melton, in blue or black. A very handsome coat, and very low in price. We have an elegant assortment.

THE "CHESTERFIELD" is made up in Kerseys and Friezes, cut extremely long, with wide velvet collars, circular pockets and wide cuffs. Truly a gentleman's coat.
